

Thursday, June 24th, 2010 | Accessories, Haute Press, News

What a Swarovski Handbag!

By Emma

The Independent Handbag Designer Awards are in their fourth year now and they always showcase some amazing talent. This year was no exception, with one entrant being more outstanding than ever before. Aimee Kestenberg won the Best Use of Crystallized Swarovski Elements award, and what a bag it is.

The incredible winning creation represents Aimee's passion for wild design. It's the first time the designer has used Swarovski crystals in leather goods and it is definitely a success. Hopefully we'll see more like it in Aimee's upcoming collections. An extremely intricate and detailed piece, it's a real showstopper that we would certainly like to get our hands on.

Aimee is a Parsons graduate student. In addition to her title Aimee has won a crystal sponsorship with access to crystal and Swarovski know how. She has a bright future ahead of her as an accessories designer with her skill range; Jatalika is already launched at Debut store. Watch out for her name, she's going to be big.

Tags: Aimee Kestenberg, Independent Handbag Designer Awards, Swarovski

f Share

9 tweets

Tweet this Post

FOLLOW POSHGLAM TODAY!

SKYPE US!
POSHGLAMDOTCOM

SUBSCRIBE TO POSHGLAM

Subscribe

Recent Posts

Sienna Miller Rocks Head to Toe Twenty8Twelve Spring 2011